

The PAV hosts the Conference "Teaching with Artificial Intelligence": a Focus on Ethics and Training

On Thursday, 11 December 2025, the Pontifical Academy for Life will host the conference Teaching with Artificial Intelligence, dedicated to the ethical and educational use of AI in early childhood education. Among the speakers will be Father Andrea Ciucci, who will examine the ethical implications of integrating AI into learning environments.

The conference will delve into how artificial intelligence is rapidly transforming the educational landscape—bringing exciting opportunities alongside significant challenges. These changes highlight the need for greater awareness, specialised teacher training, and careful consideration of how AI will shape educational communication in the years ahead.

